SIGMOID

Social Media Policy

Prepared by Meenalochani Kumar

I. Purpose

Social Media policy provides mandatory guidelines for the responsible, ethical, and secure use of social media by all individuals associated with the organization. Its primary goals are to safeguard Sigmoid's corporate reputation, protect client confidentiality, and secure proprietary and intellectual property.

II. Scope

This policy applies to all employees, contractors, and interns who use social media platforms for either professional or personal purposes. For the purpose of this document, the term "Employees" refers collectively to employees, contractors, and interns.

This policy covers:

- Official Sigmoid social media accounts.
- Employees' personal accounts when referencing Sigmoid, its clients, colleagues, or work-related topics.
- All digital platforms, including (but not limited to) LinkedIn, Instagram, X (formerly Twitter), Facebook, YouTube, forums, blogs, group messaging applications (e.g., WhatsApp, Telegram), and collaboration tools.

III. General Principles and Guidelines

Employees must navigate social media platforms with the utmost care and responsibility. Adherence to these guidelines is essential to maintain professional standards and align with Sigmoid's values

A. Exercise Good Judgment and Professionalism

- Employees are personally responsible for the content they publish.
- Keep all communication positive, respectful, and truthful.
- Refrain from posting any language that is demeaning, inflammatory, derogatory, or includes slurs.
- Do not post negative, unsubstantiated, or misleading comments targeted at competitors, partners, clients, or individuals.
- Consider all social media activity an extension of the workplace and maintain professional conduct at all times, including during non-work hours, if the activity is related to Sigmoid.

B. Transparency and Identification

- Always identify yourself as a Sigmoid Employee when discussing company-related matters. This identification must be clearly visible within the social post itself, not just in your profile bio.
- Include Disclaimers: When sharing thoughts and views that relate to Sigmoid, use a clear disclaimer to indicate that your opinions are your own.
- Suggested Disclaimer: “The postings on this site are my own and do not necessarily represent Sigmoid’s positions, strategies, or opinions.”

C. Harassment, Bullying, and Discrimination

- Using social media to harass, bully, discriminate against, or intimidate other Employees, clients, partners, or third parties is strictly prohibited.
- This includes posting sexually suggestive, offensive, or discriminatory content. Any such conduct is a serious violation of this policy and the company's Code of Business Conduct.

D. Expertise and Validation

- Employees are encouraged to share professional insights related to their work.
- Validate all claims with supporting factual information. It is best practice to limit comments to your specific area of expertise.

E. Respecting the Sigmoid Brand and Legality

- Employees are not permitted to open Sigmoid-branded social media accounts or use the Sigmoid name or logo within personal social media profiles without explicit, written permission from the Marketing department.
- Respect all copyright, fair use, and intellectual property laws. Do not infringe on the rights of Sigmoid or any third party.
- Exercise extreme caution when engaging with competitors online. Do not provide information that could give a competitive edge or lead to a dispute

IV. Confidentiality and Data Privacy

Protection of Sigmoid and Client Confidential Information is Paramount.

Employees must never post, share, or hint at any of the following:

- Client Information: Client names, projects, data, proprietary information, or internal details, even when posting about internal recognition or awards.

- Sigmoid Proprietary Information: Financials, strategy, internal processes, proprietary data, pre-release news, or any information defined as confidential by Sigmoid's Code of Business Conduct.

- Internal Communications: Sensitive Human Resources aspects (appraisals, workplace issues, detailed policies), internal meeting details, screens, emails, internal code snippets, or diagrams.

- Security Details: Infrastructure details, security measures, or data related to cybersecurity incidents.

V. Guidelines for Sharing Office Infrastructure and Workspaces

Employees must follow specific protocols when showcasing Sigmoid offices or workspaces:

- Avoid Sensitive Information: Ensure that monitors, whiteboards, documents, or personal information of others are not visible in the background of any photos or videos.
- Obtain Permissions: Before posting images or videos of other Employees or workstations, you must obtain explicit consent from the individuals involved.
- Maintain Security: Avoid showing entry points, keycard readers, or any other element that could compromise the physical security of the office environment.

VI. Crisis and Media Communication

- Only authorized spokespersons (designated by the Management/Executive Team) may comment on: cybersecurity incidents, media inquiries, or legal matters involving Sigmoid or its clients.
- Employees are strictly prohibited from speculating or sharing unofficial information related to any sensitive company or client situation.
- If contacted by the media, you must respectfully decline comment and immediately refer the inquiry to the Marketing or Communications department.

VII. Compliance, Monitoring, and Disciplinary Actions

- Only authorized spokespersons (designated by the Management/Executive Team) may comment on: cybersecurity incidents, media inquiries, or legal matters involving Sigmoid or its clients.
- Employees are strictly prohibited from speculating or sharing unofficial information related to any sensitive company or client situation.
- If contacted by the media, you must respectfully decline comment and immediately refer the inquiry to the Marketing or Communications department.

A. Zero Tolerance and Security

- Sigmoid maintains a Zero Tolerance approach to any violation of this policy, particularly concerning client confidentiality and brand integrity.
- Employees must ensure their personal social media accounts are secured (e.g., strong passwords). Do not click on suspicious links or posts on any platform that could compromise Sigmoid systems or data.

B. Violation Reporting

Employees are obligated to report any misuse or breaches of this policy to one of the following confidential channels:

- Human Resources (HR) - TM@sigmoidanalytics.com
- Information Security - infosec@sigmoidanalytics.com

C. Monitoring and Disciplinary Process

- Sigmoid reserves the right to monitor public social media content related to the organization.
- Any reported violation will be promptly investigated by the appropriate department (HR, Legal, or Management). Employees involved will have the opportunity to respond to the allegations.
- Violations may lead to strict disciplinary action, including a warning, suspension, or termination of employment/contract, the severity of which is determined by the Management's discretion.
- Violations impacting client confidentiality or resulting in a significant security breach will lead to legal action and financial liability.
- Post-Employment Obligation: All obligations related to Confidentiality (Section 4) and Crisis Communication (Section 6) survive the termination of employment or contract.

VIII. Policy Acknowledgment

All Employees must acknowledge and sign this policy during onboarding. This policy will be reviewed periodically (e.g., annually) and updated as necessary. Communication of any changes is mandatory.